Thinking Out Loud

H. M. L.

Al Capone, a guest of the United States government on Alcatraz island in San Francisco bay, should he serve his entire term of 20 years, will have cost the tax payers of this country $21,000. This is at the rate of $2.90 per day per prisoner. It is probably worth that to the tax payers, since he no longer levies millions in tribute from other and smaller groups of taxpayers, but since this gangster has a great many thousands of dollars in deposit in various banks, according to authentic report, why not charge him for board, medical care, room rent, and "service" that he receives on the island, and add to that the tidy sum that it cost the government to put him there? Personally we are convinced that guests of the state and Federal governments whose activities have resulted in their incarceration, should pay whatever they are financially able to pay into the public treasury.

When Capone gets out, if still of the opinion that gangster and racketeer organizations are a sound investment, will use the money now gathering interest in various banks, to finance a new murder corporation and thus recoup the losses his years of inactivity have brought. Even the government deducted the $21,000 it costs to restrain Mr. Capone, he will probably have a great deal of money left to finance bigger and better crime. But at least the taxpayers would not have been mulchted for the maintenance of this big time thief and murderer.

The same reasoning, of course applies to those who serve time for crimes committed nearer home. Our highgraders, as far as their means permits, should pay board and lodging following their conviction. Thugs and plug uglies, hold-up artists, and safe crackers, who have been at all successful in their calling should be required to pay jail food and lodging bills when investigation revealed that they are able to do so.

We think this principle might be extended to cover such cases as that presented by Mooney. the wholesale dynamite murderer. While his communist friends are engaged in making huge collections of funds for propaganda purposes that include flooding newspaper offices everywhere with printed and mimeographed articles extolling this cowardly and dastartdly criminal as a martyr, the California government should be able to attach such funds to the amount it is costing taxpayers to support this man, who so richly deserved hanging and whose legal escape from the noose is nothing short of a national calamity.

In the last four years, hardly a month has elapsed that did not bring to this desk a batch of literature on the sad plight of Tom Mooney. Some months were especially rich in these waste basket contributions. On the average it can be said conservatively that 3 cents has been expended per month on Mooney letters addressed to this office. This amounts to 36 cents a year, or in four years to $1.44. If California's approximate 500 newspapers are thus favored, the California bill for postage alone would amount to $720. in four years, multiply this by 48 states, at half the numbe of newspapers per state, and we have a formidable sum spent for postage to get this conscienceless killer out of prison.

The writing and the printing of these maudlin, sentimental and treasonable effusions, must run into a great many thousands of dollars. The crude and crackpot reasoning indicates, however, that writers of the stuff can be cheaply hired. But it does seem an unjust load for the taxpayers not only to pay costs of Mooney's maintenance, but to also to pay the cost of a long continued battle to keep him safely immured. We believe that an assessment should be levied abainst the Mooney literature, a tax or whatnot, and the proceeds used to reduce the Mooney expense to the people who pay the taxes.

The world is shocked at the wanton attempt of Japanese airmen and machines gunners to murder the British ambassador to China. In fact all dispatches indicate doubt that eminent diplomat will recover from his wounds. The Japanese with many a polite hiss and belch are apologizing, and we suspect that Great Britain will swallow the affront, and for that matter, that we would have swallowed it if the outrage had been done to us. What is one life against sending armies of our young men to be mowed down like ripe wheat by machine guns.

But sometimes we wonder. The undeclared war which is heaping the burned villages of China with the bodies of mothers and little children, which is cutting off all peaceful nations from the trade that supplies China with food and the necessities of life, is this something we must endure and turn the other cheek for a hearty Japanese slap?

If it were not for the fact that we are faced with saving out own country for democracy, would it not be better to unite with other democracies and try again to save the world, not for democracy, but for justice and decency, and the sancity and inviolability of international agreements? We ask the question, and wish we knew the answer.

GOLD PRICE SAFE, NEW POSTOFFICE SURE, SAYS ENGLEBRIGHT

Congressman Harry L. Englebright returned to his home in Nevada City last night. Mrs. Englebright met him at the Colfax station with the car. He was glad to get home.

e will leave tomorrow morning to travel with a sub-committee of Congress who are coming to California to obtain further information on the needs of the National Parks and the Central Valley project. As most of the National Parks are in Congressman Englebright's district, and much of the Central Valley project is also, he has been invited to accompany the party and axplain various aspects of the work contemplated in both parks and Central Valley.

"From time to time misinformed persons spread rumors that the price of gold is about to be reduced," said Mr. Englebright. The highest authorities in the Treasury deny and keep denying that any such step is contemplated or even dreamed of. Economists are agreed that to reduce the price of gold now would be to bring on a crash similar to that of 1929 or worse, and the repercussions of such a drastic action would be felt around the world.

"Nevada City is now in line for a new postoffice building. It must be placed on the approved list before Congress will take any action whatever. Congress has appropriated $70,000,000 for new postoffices which will provide about one new postoffice in each congressional district this year. On the approval list in my district are Nevada City, Sonora, Yreka, Jackson, Placerville and Quincy. The inspectors for the postoffice department determine scientifically which new postoffice is most urgent. They take into consideration the total business done, the number of rural routes and other factors and then make their recommendation and the new building goes into that town. It is hard to say when Nevada City will get its new building, but I do not believe it will be long.

"Despite the fact that important legislation was all held up for six months pending a decision on the Supreme Court plan, in the six weeks that has elapsed since that matter was acted upon, my district has fared very well in the legislation. For the debris dams, as I wired several days ago, $1,500,000 has been appropriated and engineers are now working on plans here which will be forwarded to Washington for final approval. The Narrows dam on the Yuba, the dam at Ruckachucka and on the North Fork of the American are now over their last hurdles and work will proceed as fast as can be properly done."

GRASS FIRE IN WILLOW VALLEY CAUSES ALARM

An alarm was turned in to State Ranger William F. Sharp and the Nevada City fire department at midday yesterday when a trash pile fire at the M. Hussey home in Willow Valley caused considerable anxiety. It was extinguished before it spread to earby buildings, grass and the forest. State Ranger Sharp and crew with pumper truck and one fire truck from this city responded to the call.

HEAVY FINE AND JAIL TERM FOR CAR CRASHER

CAMPTONVILLE, Aug. 30.—Rozell G. Smith and Pete Prout, participants in an automobile accident here August 15, were brought before Judge Acton M Cleveland in the local justice court Thursday morning.

Scott, charged with driving an automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquors involving an accident wherein persons received bodily injury was given a preliminary hearing during which District Attorney Joseph Heenan, of Marysville, questioned Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Olson, Arnold Olson, Stella Olson, Andrew Thickstun and Traffic Officer W. A. McFarlane. Thhe court held the defendant over to answer the charges in the superior court and continued the bail at $1000.

The case of Pete Prout, charged with not having a non-resident permit for an out of state car was then called and the defendant entered a plea of guilty. The court took opportunity to review the case and accident and held that in as much the defendant was legal owner of the car involved and had been driving, that he was as much to blame for the accident and injury as the man who drove the car and imposed a fine of $250 and six months in the county jail. The court stressed the seriousness of the accident and the fact that the highway must be made safe for traffic, and that the practice of drunken driving must cease.

The case had created considerable interest and the Masonic hall which is used as a court room was crowded.

FREE DIAGNOSIS AND CLINIC FOR YOUNG CRIPPLES

Physically handicapped children of Nevada County will have the opportunity for examination at a free diagnosis clinic to be held at Nevada City, September 15 at the Washington Elementary School.

These clinics are under the direction of Dr. Walter M. Dickie, director of the State Department of Public Health, in co-operation with the county Health Officer, Dr. Carl P Jones. These clinics are endorsed by the State Medical Society.

Miss Linda Mitschke, State Orthopedic Nurse has been detailed by Dr. Dickie to make the preliminary arrangements.

Dr. Donald King, Chief Orthopedic Surgeon, Stanford University Hospital has been appointed to examine these children. Any child under 21 years of age may be examined, who has such physical handicaps; weakness of muscles or paralysis due to infantile paralysis, disease of the bones, such as tuberculosis or osteomyelitis, club feet, curvature of the spine severe cases of flat feet, deformities due to accidents, disfigurin scars caused by burns or accidents, extremely bad posture, birth injuries, cleft plate, harelip, extreme cases of irregular and protruding teeth, cross eyes not corrected with glasses, or any other condition which may lead to deformity.

The object of this clinic is to locate crippled children, and where necessary provide means for care. This clinic is for diagnosis and recommendation only. No treatment will be given. Local physicians are welcome to send or bring any cases for consultation. Any child already under care should consult his private physician before coming to the clinic.

It is found that the majority of crippling conditions may be cured and children restored to full health, providing proper care and attention is given early. These clinics which are being held throughout the various counties are made possible through additional funds made available through the Social Security Act. Many hundreds of such children have been found through these clinics, and provisions have been made, for those whose parents were unable to provide care, for relief of the handicapped conditions.

Anyone knowing of a physically handicapped child who is in need of medical care may report the case to Mrs. Isabel Hefelfinger, county nurse at the office of the county superintendent of schools or to Miss Dallas Smith, school nurse at the Hennessy School in Grass Valley.

NARROW ESCAPE

A big iron post was broken in two and railing torn away last Thursday afternoon when a motorist from Arizona came near going into Deer Creek at the bridge near the Standard Oil service tation in this city. Gears locked in his car and only the fact he was traveling at about 15 miles per hour and the steel post saved him from plunging about 20 feet into the stream.

Miss Nell B. Baggley and Miss Thelma K. Petersen, high school faculty members, have returned from summer session at the University of California for the starting of school today. They will reside in the Lattin apartments.

The Flying Farmer

The dauntless courage of a farmer down in Oklahoma has made him the terror of the countryside. His startling idea marks him as a trail-blazer, but his failure to carry it through has brought him into disgrace with his wife and neighbors.

Herman Schapansky has wanted to fly his milk and eggs to market ever since a pilot at the Clinton ,Okla., airport gave him a few lessons in flying. So Herman bought a 1925 fuselage and wings. Unable to afford an airplane motor, he installed an old Ford engine and took to the air—with the shock-absorber tied down by an inner-tube.

The other day he had his fourth crash. His plane plunged into a waterbog and splintered over a cow pasture. Mrs. Schapansky, as usual, hitched the trailer onto the family car, drove over to the pasture, and toted Herman and his wrecked plane home again. He's never been hurt yet.

People around Herman's part of Oklahoma keep the telephone wires humming when he takes to the air. The cry is relayed round the countryside, "Take to the storm cellars, folks, Herman is flyin' again!"

Schapansky's trials aren't always in the air. The other day in the barn he found his new $32 cow scratching herself on a wing of his plane. Enraged, he threw a rock at her. She swooned and dropped dead. He butchered her, then sold the meat to the neighbors and retrieved $31.

With unbeatable spirit, he's readying his plane for another flight. For the sake of your wife, children and neighbors, happy landing, Herman!

Neutrality?

With the great Sino-Japanese war raging in the Far East, our Neutrality Law confronts the government with a curiously baffling dilemma.

The law, should the President declare a state of war existed between Japan an China, would at once compel him to prohibit shipment of arms to both nations, prohibit granting of credit, and make it possible to force belligerents—if they want our goods—to pay cash for them and haul them away in their own ships. But officials fear to invoke the Neutrality Law now—because it would make us an aggressor nation!

Japan is very well armed. She has $130,000,000 in gold deposited in the United States with which to pay cash for more war goods. She has the ships to carry them away. The law would not penalize her in the slightest, but it would cripple China hopelessly, for she has neither war goods, ships nor cash. For the President to invoke the Neutrality Law would be tantamount to handing Japan victory on a silver platter. For the President to refuse to invoke this law leaves him open to the charge that he is unneutral to Japan. Whatever he does, he'll be plunged into hot water.

Come to the Fair

All roads lead to the State Fair from September 3 to 12!

California's great exhibit at Sacramento last year pushed within a fraction of being the biggest show of its kind in the entire United States during 1936. Our exposition drew 622,408 persons—only 14,076 less than Minnesota which captured first national honors in attendance.

This year's even more elaborate and praiseworthy exposition should draw more than 760,000 visitors into the State Fair grounds.

A 91-year-old Sacramento citizen is showing a rousing spirit that would be difficult to equal. He's Nick Singley, a covered wagon "baby" who first saw the light of day on the Utah plains while his parents were California-bound from Pennsylvania in 1846. Nick has invited his 22 children, 31 grandchildren, 26 great grandchildren, and one great-great-grandchild to attend the fair with him! Rightly, he believes it deserves their support.

We can't all invite 80 relatives, but we can make sure that we and our friends make a bee-line to the Fair Grounds between September 3 and 12!

CHARIVARI FOR BIRCHVILLE PAIR

By KATHERINE BRAITHWAITE

BIRCHVILLE, Aug. 28.—One of the largest charivari ever held on the North San Juan Ridge was given last Wednesday evening to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Heald, formerly of North San Juan.

A caravan of automobiles from Cherokee, North Columbia and Bullards Dam, filled to the overflowing with merrymakers, left North San Juan at eight o'clock. Other out of town residents waited at the crossroads and in schoolhouse yards and fell in line as thhe long, noisy procession moved onward to the Heald residence at Birchville. Then with horns blowing, bells ringing and a clamor that echoed far back into the hills the newlyweds were surrounded, bidden to rise and entertain the crowd.

Mr. Wade Oden on his violin and Mr. John Murpy on his accordian played a wedding march and in a shower of rice the newly married couple led a grand march. To many of the guests, the most sentimental part of the evening's entertainment was the popular old time song "Ida", featured by Mr. Oden on his violin. The crowd quickly fell into the spirit of the occasion and sang the chorus of the ever beautiful ballad. At midnight a bountiful repast was served and dancing lasted until a late hour.

Mrs. Heald came to North San Juan from Los Angeles in 1933. She has one daughter, Miss Leona Davenport, by a former marriage. This is Mr. Heald's first marriage. He has lived on the Ridge three years. He was retired from the United States navy in 1932 as chief boatswain's mate. He has steadily added to his income by successful mining operations.

Mr. and Mrs. Heald were married in Reno, Nevada August 5, 1937. They spent a three week's honeymoon touring through touring all the places of interest in the high Sierra Nevada mountains. They plan to year seeing America first and visiting the historical sections of the nation.

UTILITIES ADD TO COUNTY TAX ROLL $7,949,150

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 30. — A valuation roll of taxable public utility property totaling $1,003,748,210 was given final approval today by the state board of equalization and sent to the various county auditors for inclusion in local tax rolls.

Of the total, Nevada county's tax roll will benefit from utility property amounting to $7,949,150, the approval after a series of meetings board announced.

The valuation roll was given final at which board members gave consideration to requests for reductions in proposed valuations amounting to more than $80,000,000 or 8.1 per cent of the total roll.

Of these requests, reductions amounting to only $772,050 were allowed in the case of the Southern California Edison company on the ground that "certain specific properties had been over-assessed."

A. G. Mott, director of the valuation division, explained that despite this reduction, the company's total valuation of $131,509,340 still was $5,440,940 in excess of the 1936 valuation.

All other requests for reductions were denied by the board for lack of reasonable proof that such action would be warranted.

The total valuation roll, as finally approved, represents an increase of approximately 5 per cent over the value set by the board in 1936, and compares favorably with the increased values of common property as determined by county assessors.

"The valuatio of public utility property is one of the most important functions of the board," said Fred E. Stewart, Oakland board member, "Inasmuch as the values so established will determine the share of the tax burden which shall be assued by such companies."

RARE GUITAR FISH CAUGHT BY BOY

LA JOLLA, Aug. 30.—A very rare striped guitarfih, found heretofore only in San Diego bay, was caught by hook and line near the end of the pier at the University of California's Scripps Institute, according to P. S. Barnhardt, curator of the museum. The fish, a species of skate, was nearly three feet in length and the largest ever captured, so far as is known. Barnhart made a plaster cast of the fish and then placed it in preserving fluid.

Only two specimens of the fish have ever been taken before, so far as records show. They were less than a foot in length and were captured about ten years ago. The fish at the pier was caught by Donald Pigney, step son of James Ross, superintendent of buildings and grounds at the institution.

WIDER BAY AREA ROAD DEMANDED

Urging immediate action on two important bay region units of the state highway system, the board of directors of the California State Automobile Association today recommended to the state highway commission the breaking of the "San Rafael bottleneck" and construction of the East Shore Highway south from Oakland.

Both projects, the association pointed out in behalf of its 76,000 members, are of state wide importance and growing traffic congestion warrants exceptional action. The need for their early completion has been accentuated by heavy, unanticipated bridge traffic over the Golden Gate bridge and the San Francisco-Oakland bay bridge.

The automobile association directorate voted to request the state highway commission to take immediate action looking toward construction of a new route for U. S. 101 through San Rafael and the widening of the existing Redwood Highway northward so far as may be necessary to relieve present abnormal traffic conditions.

On the East Shore Highway project, the automobile association board urged the state highway commission to immediately complete surveys and plans for this new route from Oakland to San Jose and that a program be developed for financing the project in its entirety. It is also urged that completion of as much of the East Shore Highway as will become a main route of travel from the San Joaquin Valley to the bay region be made to coincide with the completion of the new Altamont Pass project which has just been started.

The 400 acre man made island in San Francisco bay which will be the site of the 1939 Golden Gate international exposition is to be given a series of baths. With a $1,500,000 horticultural program planned, Exposition officials must unsalt the sand of the island, which was reclaimed from the bottom of the bay before trees, shrubs and flowers can be planted.

An unexpected result has followed the creation of an artificial island in San Francisco bay as a site for the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition. The new body of land has altered the currents in the bay so markedly that new maritime data must be issued for the use of pilots in bay waters.

Mariners from all over the world who sail through the Golden Gate in the future will need new charts of San Francisco bay. An artificial island, approximately a mile square and rising 13 feet above sea level, has been completed by United States Army engineers to be used as a site for the 1938 Golden Gate International Exposition.

A Glimpse of Building Activity

Vol. 1. AUGUST 30, 1937. No. 53.

The WPA workers are certainly doing a fine job on the sidewalks on Boulder street, and the grading and side walks on Nevada street are also a credit to the workers and to the city.

Contractor Bill Forkner has completed a construction job at the Spring Hill Mine which involved changing a large office building into a residence. With the aid and planning of the mine officials a very fine residence resulted.

Do we need to remind you that the rains are approaching and that you had better cast a weather eye to your roofs and see that they are in shape? We have a new roof Pabco Permanite to offer to our customers. Permanent, fireproof, several colors and aluminum. We will be glad to tell you about it and hope soon to have a job in town we can show to you. More about this later.

The front of the Bennetts Building on Broad street is commencing to show what the finished job will be like. Contractor Bob Steger, with the help of Sam Dean, is pushing this job right along and it will soon be ready for the painters. A variety store will occupy the building when alterations are completed.
